Wet weather may have thinned the crowds a little for the ninth annual Cruisin' the Coast, but it couldn't dampen the enthusiasm of a few thousand participants who braved the rain anyway just to get a glimpse of the glories of yesteryear.

While Hurricane Ivan did relatively little damage in Hancock County last month, Tropical Storm Matthew is quite literally all wet.
"At this time, we are still under a flood warning," Hancock County Emergency Management Agency (EMA) Director Brian Adam said in a statement Saturday morning. "All low-lying areas in Hancock County, please monitor this storm closely and take all precautions."
As of 10 a.m. yesterday, the National Weather Service was predicting that Matthew had become a little less organized and maximum sustained winds had

Hancock County Water and Sewer Director Eddie Renz has, according to board President Al Smith, "become the victim" of a serious effort to save money in the district. Plans for Pearlington wastewater system raising a stink

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Martin Bowman and Hobart Shaw say there is a serious lack of communication going on in informing people about a proposed wastewater collection system in the area. Planners say they hope to put the first two phases of the three phase project out to bid in December and begin construction after the first of the year.

The first two phases will serve a little over 700 customers, with a third phase adding another 200 customers.

Estimated costs for all three phases is about $7 million. Funding will come from a variety of sources including CIAP and CDBG and Rural Development, and Corps of Engineer grant funds and from Rural Development and SRF loans.

Bowman and Shaw say that many people in the area have not received proper notice about the project or the meetings held concerning the proposal. They say they themselves paid to notify about 800 people about the project and a meeting held Thursday evening at the school gym.

Like previous meetings, Thursday evening's meeting was held to attempt to obtain easements from people in the project area. Consultant Jimmy Gouras told those in attendance that the Pearlington district would not be able to purchase the needed easements due to cost.

Most easements would only need to be temporary easements, Gouras said, good for one year for any needed adjustments to lines. Most collection chambers could be placed in already existing rights of ways, he said.

Those already signing permanent easement grants are welcome to change that agreement to a temporary grant, he said, as those easements have not yet been recorded.

If easements are not donated, then those living on property not donating the easements will likely end up having to pay to connect to the sewer system at a later date. Gouras did not give any estimates on the cost those residents would have to pay, but hookup cost at the Hancock Water and Sewer District for new hookups is about $2,600. Those donating easements will have collection chambers installed during the construction at no cost. A monthly service fee will be charged once service begins. Board chairman Ronnie Cuevas said the fee will be $35 a month.

Bowman and Shaw say that they and many people feel that the project is unneeded and will burden the community with bills they cannot afford and loans they cannot pay. Gouras said that, once the system goes in that all residents with access to the system will be required to hook up. Federal funding used for the project mandate that a district require all residents with access to hook up, Gouras said. More than four years ago Federal regulatory agencies ordered county districts to join together to provide wastewater treatment to unserved areas.

For more information call Jerry Perkins at Compton Engineering at 228-467-2770 or at 601-638-7121. District meetings will be held the first Thursday of each month at the community center, said Cuevas.

Tired of heartburn? Surgeon to discuss causes, treatment

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Do you have frequent heartburn two or more days a week? If this condition persists despite over-the-counter treatments and diet change, you could be suffering from acid reflux disease.

Board certified general surgeon Brian Anthony will discuss symptoms, complications and treatment options for reflux disease Thursday, October 14 at 6 p.m. in Hancock Medical Center's Business Complex Classroom.

Gastroesophageal reflux disease (GERD), or acid reflux, is a medical condition that affects many Americans.

Common symptoms of this health problem are repeated bouts of heartburn, sour-tasting fluid in the throat and difficulty swallowing.

Complaints are frequently noted after consumption of a large meal, or when a patient bends over or lies down.

The culprit in this disease is a weakened one-way valve at the top of the stomach. Acids that break down food during the digestive process escape through the lower esophageal sphincter (LES) and travel backward through the esophagus and into the throat.

Sensitive tissue in the esophagus exposed to stomach acid over a long period of time can lead to inflammation, ulcers and scarring. Repeated exposure to these acids can lead to a stricture or narrowing of the esophagus, resulting in difficulty swallowing and the sensation that food is stuck in the throat.

Dr. Anthony will discuss the various treatment options during his talk. For additional information or to register for the free seminar, call 467-8727.

Cuevas' Quotes

by Ellis C. Cuevas
Publisher Emeritus

Looking into the past ...

The finale for Cruisin' the Coast 2004 is today with several activities in Gulfport and Biloxi.

Once again there was a record number of vintage vehicles registered for Cruisin' the Coast, and hopefully all visitors enjoyed their visit.

Other than the weather not cooperating, everything else seemed to go well for the big event.

As always, entertainment was very good, even if the weather cut back on the numbers of visitors to our area.

It appeared to have been a great time for the folks on Coleman Avenue, as they received their first official taste of Cruisin' the Coast.

I will be looking forward to next year's Cruisin' the Coast. I understand plans are already in the works for 2005.

Most of us think about our history along the Mississippi Gulf Coast as going back only three centuries.

That may be true as far as our modern society goes, but, really, the coast's history goes back thousands of years.

Native Americans visited the coast area frequently and some may have even made it their place of residence on a regular basis.

It is really too bad

there is no recorded information available for the centuries prior to 1700.

An article in Thursday's edition of The Echo tells about a strong possibility of a shell midden in Clermont Harbor. A midden is usually 1,000 to 3,500 years old.

Of course in Hancock County middens have already been found in Logtown and Port Bienville Industrial Park, as well as other areas.

It sure would be good to know more about the Native Americans who walked the shores and paddled the Bay and streams of our area in earlier centuries.

Myself, I would also have loved to have seen this area two centuries back prior to the harvest of the longleaf pine forests.

Congratulations are in order for W.A. McDonald's & Sons on the celebration of 100 years in business in Bay St. Louis this past week.

Not too many businesses are around for that length of time, as you can count them on one hand here.

McDonald's was noted for its carload of shipments, (railroad carloads) for many years, as they were also in the wholesale business too.

Much of the furniture

Good roads: From Paper to Pavement

This week I was pleased to join my colleagues Senators Zell Miller and Saxby Chambliss, both of Georgia, along with Congressman Chip Pickering in taking the first steps to build a new interstate from Natchez through Laurel and on through Montgomery, Alabama, and Augusta, Georgia.

This new interstate, destined to become "I-14," would join three other new interstate projects impacting the Mississippi. When the transformation from paper to pavement is complete, these projects will represent some of the most significant interstate construction since our modern highway system was completed some 40 years ago.

Our legislation calls for a study of the proposed I-14 route which in Mississippi would follow along existing Highway 84 from

From the Senate
By U.S. Sen. Trent Lott

Waynesboro, Laurel, Printiss, and Brookhaven to Natchez. Our bill requires the U.S. Department of Transportation to submit a report on the I-14 study by the end of this calendar year.

The proposed I-14 is accompanied by three other projects in various stages of development: I-69, stretching from Canada to Mexico via the Mississippi Delta; I-22 from Memphis to Atlanta via Oxford, Tupelo and Birmingham, Alabama; and I-85 from Meridian to Montgomery, and connecting to Atlanta.

These new interstates, just like the ones we now have, will improve public safety, ease transportation and provide a stimulus for job creation. Like the planned I-69 project which will traverse the economically-challenged Mississippi Delta, I-14 will help bring business investment and jobs to a very poor area in Central Alabama.

In Mississippi it will help the Laurel/Hattiesburg region build on its already progressive economy. I-14's greatest Mississippi beneficiary could be the Natchez area, where people have longed for interstate access that will help spur industrial development and enhance Natchez/Adams County's already well-established tourism economy.

Now, some folks think these projects are way off in the future. Not really. At least they don't have to be when we resolve to do them. Today we take our modern interstate system for granted, but not so long ago, it didn't exist. People under 40 can't imagine life without four-lane interstate highways, but folks my age knew it all too well. My father was killed on a narrow, curved, two-lane road near Laurel. I remember driving from red light to red light on highways like U.S. 90, 11, 80 or 51. The danger factor was higher, and it took forever to get somewhere.

Thankfully, President Eisenhower initiated construction of America's interstate system in the 1950s. Within just over a decade, our modern highway system was done. We built this system very quickly using a combination of new routes and existing ones. Interstates 10, 55, 20 and 59 transformed communities throughout Mississippi almost overnight. Our mobility and safety were dramatically increased. Industrial parks sprang up. Lives and opportunities were improved.

Why are beachfront residents allowed to block public property?

Dear editor:
I am writing this message as a recent visitor to Waveland, the Hospitality City. Home of the beautiful Gulf of Mexico. Which I have not doubt was created for everyone to enjoy.

Unfortunately, my husband and I took our three small children there to have a pleasurable day and enjoy the beautiful sand beaches. The children were very ecstatic over seeing this gorgeous scenery, knowing they would soon be partaking of some of these ravishing gifts that God presented to us at no cost.

Needless to say, we rode down Beach Blvd., and all we could observe were signs posted on the side of the boulevard with lettering which read "No Parking"

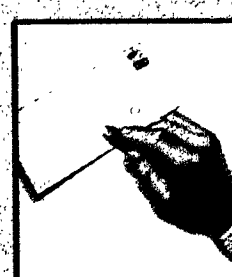

Consequently, there were huge posts planted in the ground, or bushes planted where one had no choice but to keep motoring. I immediately became mystified as well as baffled at what I was perceiving. I called a relative and told her what I witnessed and she said, "Call the city hall and inquire about this." I called and was directed to the board of supervisors.

I would like to understand if this is the city of Waveland, why would I have to telephone the board of supervisors? Why didn't this person refer me to the mayor? I know this property is in possession of either the city, county or the state and how can these homeowners on Beach Blvd. lay claim to it? I would also like to know if someone is being compensated with tax money on this proclaimed property? It does not seem legitimate that the taxpayers, citizens and tourists cannot derive the pleasure and joy of the beaches by virtue of no parking spaces.

Needless to say, we left the area with three small children crying and sobbing "I want to play in the sand." With their little buckets and shovels in hand, while sitting in their car seats, these small children could not conceive why they could not manufacture sand castles in the sand.

I am visiting a relative in Pearllington for three more weeks, but we will not go back to Waveland.

Thank you,

Still, many communities were left out of the interstate mix, and some states are doing better than others in fixing that. In Mississippi, the initial interstate construction of the 1960s bypassed Tupelo, Natchez and Greenville.

Today, Mississippi is the first state to initiate I-69 construction. Mississippi now has Interstate 76 in northeast Mississippi mostly brought up to interstate standards and ready to become I-22 - good news for the folks in Tupelo and

Oxford, and for the big "mega-site" industrial location that leaders in this region are promoting. I-85 from Meridian to Montgomery is important for Mississippi and Alabama's continued development of the southeastern automotive manufacturing corridor. It would have a direct impact on a joint Mississippi/Alabama super industrial site straddling the state lines near Kewanee, in Lauderdale County just east of Meridian, where we'd like to lure another automotive manufacturer or similar industrial development.

But both the I-22 and I-85 proposals need additional commitment from Alabama, beyond voiced verbal support. Needless to say I'm encouraging my colleagues like Senator Richard Shelby of Alabama to ensure that both our states, along with Georgia, are committed to these interstate projects.

We know that interstates improve safety, enhance travel and stimulate job creation. Let's pursue a new phase of interstate development with the same vision and vigor of President Eisenhower and all those who so quickly transferred our modern highway system from paper to pavement.

of our home was purchased from McDonald's back in the 1960's, as well as appliances, etc.

W.A. McDonald's for many years was one of the largest employers in Bay St. Louis too.

The business is now run by a third generation of the family, James McDonald, and he needs to be commended on the job he does.

Many people of the area got their first employment opportunity at W.A. McDonald's, some while still in high school.

I can recall the day after 1947 hurricane, when my father traveled from Waveland to Bay St. Louis to purchase roofing from McDonald's, who were open to serve the public.

The morning following Hurricane Camille, I went to McDonald's and purchased felt to protect our home's content, as they were here then too serve the public.

Most important of all, I have been privileged to know many of the McDonald family throughout my life.

Correction

In the Sept. 23, 2004 edition of The Sea Coast Echo, an article incorrectly listed the age of Jose Torres, who was killed in a motorcycle accident, as 59. He was 49. The article also said the accident occurred on a Thursday. It occurred on Wednesday. We apologize to the family of Mr. Torres for any inconvenience this may have caused.

and the top paying position went first. Smith said of the lay off, it was a hard thing to do.

"Eddie was an asset to the board and whatever the Lord leads him to will be an asset and a blessing there, too," said board member Bob Fricke. "When one door opens God opens another door and Eddie knows this."

The lay off is another step the board decided to try to keep from having to raise rates for its some 4,000 customers. Talks of an $11.30 rate hike for sewer customers had been under discussion for some time. That will be put off, at least for now, Smith said.

"We are down to the bare minimum and most of the crews in the office and outside are doing at least two jobs," said Smith.

Rising treatment costs, material costs, and insurance costs have all contributed to a budget crisis for the district. And with two more treatment plants in the works that the district will share the cost of, Smith said, cost of operations will not be going down.

The board will be taking a more active role in the running of the district, with department heads reporting directly to the board rather than to a director, Smith said. Office manager Theresa Slade, along with operations manager Angie Favre, and comptroller Juanita Silcio will take over the day to day operations for the district. Favre is also responsible for collections, handling court cases, and supervising maintenance operations and records. Silcio also serves as book keeper and purchaser.

"The employees we have will be pretty loaded with work," said Smith. "It's a seven day a week, 24 hour a day job."

The district will also contract out some lift station maintenance and billing operations to save money, said Smith.

Cruisin' -- rain

classic cars lining up to get an opportunity to burn some rubber on Coleman Ave. Still, dreary weather and rainstorms did contribute to a somewhat lackluster turnout on Friday in Waveland.

Sparks Hayes, a disc jockey from Knoxville, Tenn., said the rain had slowed festivities on Coleman Ave. to a crawl.

"We've had nothing this morning," Hayes said. "A few cruisers came through, but that's it."

Hayes, who had been hired to work the audio track on the drive-in movie that had been scheduled to play both Friday and Saturday nights, said the film had been canceled due to the inclement weather.

Scott Blackwell, a local artist and owner of Mombo Graphix on Coleman Ave., said that as of Friday, this year's turnout had been disappointing.

"I expected more people to come in and be down here," Blackwell said. "I don't know when its going to pick up. (Cruisin') is a great thing, but its not catching on in Waveland as quick as I'd like. It needs some time to pick up."

Bay St. Louis fared better, even with the constant threat of downpours. Valerie Bowen, owner of The Cup Filler on Court St., said business had been surprisingly good.

"It's been better than I expected," Bowen said. "Not as good as some Fridays during Cruisin' the Coast. Weather is a factor."

Bob and Barbara Pinney of Gulfport have been participating in Cruisin' with their 1931 Model A Ford since it first started 1996. They said they were enjoying themselves, despite the weather.

"It hasn't bothered us a bit," Bob Pinney said.

Cruisers in Bay St. Louis waited patiently for a little over an hour for electric power to return Thursday afternoon. Wind blew a tree branch against a power line disrupting service for about 1,500 Bay St. Louis residents. Power was back on in minutes for some, and within 30 minutes for others, but for some 500 residents in the downtown area, there was nothing to do but take a break from the daily routine and wait. Mustang Sally tuned up for their set on the Main St. stage at about 4 p.m. when power returned.

decreased to around 35 miles per hour, but that it was expected to make land-fall in Louisiana around 7 a.m. today. According to the storm's predicted course, Hancock County was on its far northeastern edge.

The storm was advancing north-northeast at about 10 miles per hour.

Friday afternoon saw low-lying areas in Hancock County under a flood warning. Many streets in the Clermont Harbor and Bayside Park area took large amounts of water.

Adam said that Hancock County could expect three to five inches of rain over the course of the weekend. The Gulf of Mexico is expected to rise as much as a foot.

Beach Boulevard was closed Friday afternoon in the Buccaneer State Park and Clermont Harbor area.

Some other roads in the area were also closed, but Adam said that many were open, despite the fact that most had water.

"We're encouraging people to keep an eye out, and to make sure they're safe if it starts to flood," Adam said.

The National Weather service said these conditions were expected to last at least through today. Adam said the EMA would continue to monitor the situation.

Further questions can be directed to the Hancock County Emergency Management Agency at 467-9226.

What's a tropical depression?

According to meteorologist Steve Pool, "While (hurricanes, tropical storms and tropical depressions) all are large storms of tropical nature, their official storm name has to do with its wind speeds.

"When the storms are in their infant stages as just a general area of low pressure that has the potential to strengthen, they're usually given the name 'Tropical Depression' (it's not known if it got that name from ruining sunny tropical vacations.) It doesn't get a name like 'Betty' or 'Donald' just yet, instead, it gets a sequential number, like 'Tropical Depression 3'.

"If the storm's peak winds become greater than 39 mph, then it's now a 'tropical storm' and it gets a real name from the National Hurricane Center, like 'Tropical Storm Barry'.

"If the storm continues to grow and reaches wind speeds over 74 mph, it's then a hurricane, but it keeps its identifying name for continuity sake."

Valiant Haws grounded by Cougars 28-7

BY DWAYNE BREMER
Contributing Writer

The Hancock Hawks showed that they were a team of character Friday night. The Hawks have endured a long season to this point. Losing their first seven games by lopsided margins, the Hawks have not gotten much respect; and the idea of a rebuilding year has not set well with some in the Kiln area.

However, anyone who saw Friday night's game between the Hawks and the Northwest Rankin Cougars (6-1) could not help but feel a sense of pride at how the Hawks competed, as they finally seem to be getting their act together.

The Hawks lost the game 28-7 but were in it until late in the third quarter.

They battled hard all night, and their efforts did not go unnoticed.

"I am so proud of these kids, they are coming along well. If we could have gotten a break or two, we could have won tonight. This was a really good football team we played tonight," said Hawks head coach Walt Esslinger.

Esslinger's job has not been an easy one this year. The Hawks started four freshmen on defense Friday night, as well as two sophomores and three juniors. The lack of experience has hurt the team all year, but some of the youngsters seem to be growing up quickly.

From this group, Brently Necaise, Chase Mciver, Chris Jochum, Trey McLeod, Jesse Stennett, Kevin Lafontaine, and Nick Going all chipped in with solid performances.

The Hawks started out the game playing some nice defense. They forced the Cougars into a quick three and out on the first possession.

The Hawks would take over at the 20. Mark Fairley picked up a first down with a 15-yard run, and Hancock ground out another first down with a six-yard run by Ronnie Thomas. The Hawks drive stalled at midfield, and Paul Verdin came on to punt a 43-yard punt that pinned the Cougars inside the ten.

The Cougars would pick up three first downs behind the running of Josh Brumfield and Branden Franklin. When the Cougars reached the Hawks 36, the Hawks defense rose up to stop them. Quarterback Tyler Moore attempted a pass, but was sacked by Corey O'Rear for a nine-yard loss. Brumfield was stopped on second down, after a one-yard gain by Brently Necaise, and a third down pass was incomplete. The Cougars were forced to punt.

The Hawks took over at the 20, and quickly picked up a first down when Anthony Guidry picked up five yards, and John Lacoste rumbled up the middle for six more yards. The Hawks were flagged for holding on the next play and forced to punt back to the Cougars three plays later.

The Cougars would go on a six-play march to open the scoring. Franklin had an 18-yard run and a 15-yard run, and Moore took in a quarterback sneak for one yard out for the touchdown. Kevin Conerly added the point after, and the Cougars led 7-0, with just 3:34 to play in the half.

The Cougars had another shot to score just before the half. With just eight seconds to play in the half, Franklin shuck loose for a 56-yard run.

Franklin was stopped at the 12-yard line by Larry Beach and Andrew Warhay as time ran out. The half-time score was 7-0.

The Cougars took the second half kickoff in and started at the 35. The Cougars would march 11 plays taking six minutes off the clock. Franklin had a 26-yard run, and Moore connected with Stuart Davidson for 14-yards on a fourth and three to keep the drive alive. Franklin plunged in from a yard out for the touchdown. The extra point made the score 14-0 with 6:38 to play in the third.

The Hawks took over at the 20 after the kickoff. The Hawks collected a first down thanks to a ruffing the kicker call, and three plays later the Hawks were faced with a fourth and two from the 48.

The Hawks decided to go, and Fairley was stopped just short at the 49, after a questionable spot.

The stop was a big turning point. On the Cougars second play, Brumfield took off on a 49-yard touchdown run, and just like that the Hawks went from being right there to down three scores. The extra point made the score 21-0 with 3:35 seconds to play in the third.

The Cougars would strike again on another big play, as Brumfield busted a 72-yard touchdown run early in the fourth quarter. The point after gave the Cougars a commanding 28-0 lead, with 9:33 to play.

The Hawks regrouped, and after trading punts the Hawks took over at the 33 with 5:31 to play. Fairley carried for seven yards, and Braxton Necaise hooked up with Mciver for a 21-yard completion. Necaise then spotted Mciver again, this time for 16 more yards, to the 23. After a five yard run by Andrew Smith, Necaise completed a pass to Justin Kopf for 12 yards and a first-and-goal at the five.

Necaise then scrambled in for a five-yard touchdown, and the Hawks were on the board. Justin Rateliff added the point-after, and with 2:35 to play the Hawks trailed 28-7.

The Cougars recovered the on-sides kick, and ran out the clock.

The Hawks were led by Fairley, who rushed 15 times for 84 yards. Mciver caught three passes for 60 yards.

On defense, senior Johnathan Lacoste had a fine game collecting fifteen tackles. Brently Necaise had eight tackles and Trey McLeod chipped in with six stops.

Paul Verdin punted the ball really nicely. Verdin connected on a 60 yard punt and a fifty yard punt, while putting three punts inside the twenty.

"I am really thankful for the family and fans who traveled over three hours to come and see us play. We're going to keep working hard, and good things are going to come," Esslinger said.

The Hawks will be back home at Brett Favre Field next week to play their homecoming game against the Natchez Bulldogs. Natchez is 1-6.

Bay drops hard fought battle to D'Iberville

BY MAURICE SINGLETON
Contributing Writer

Bay High appeared to be poised to regain its winning ways, but the Tigers let D'Iberville squeak away with the 17-12 win on a 27-yard pass play with 1:17 remaining on the game clock in a hard fought battle at D'Iberville on Friday night.

The Tigers answered 10 unanswered Warriors' points with 12 unanswered third quarter points. And the Tigers defense did its job, denying the home team first downs on their next three possessions. But on the fourth possession, D'Iberville picked up its third first down of the second half, and then converted on a third and eleven situation with a short toss over the middle for the go-ahead score.

"They had a good play called, a middle screen," said a disappointed Tigers coach Brennan Compretta. "We weren't in the position to make the play."

"Our defense played really well in the second half with the exception of one big play," Compretta added. "It's a real tough loss. We had a good shot at a win. We had a good week of practice. I thought our guys came out ready to play."

The Tigers certainly came out ready to play, particularly in the second half as the offense put together its most impressive drive of the night, following the Warriors' field goal to take a 10-0 lead. Reggie Calhoun returned the ensuing kickoff 16 yards to the Tigers 35 yardline.

Corbin Blaize connected with Destin Thomas over the top of the Warriors' secondary for a 40 yard pass play to the Warriors' 23 yardline. Two plays later, Lorenzo Lewis, running out of the backfield broke to the left sideline and maneuvered his way through two blocks for the 20 yard scoring run to put the Tigers on the scoreboard. The PAT kick attempt by Tyler Brush, filling in for the injured Kyle Moran, failed and the Tigers trailed 10-6.

The Tigers' defense went to work making big play after big play. Kadeem

Perkins got the Tigers going with a popping tackle for a one-yard loss on D'Iberville's second possession of the second half. Two plays later the Tigers again caught the Warriors in their backfield, forcing a fumble. Cory Thornton scooped up the loose football and scattered 25 yards to the D'Iberville 6 yardline.

Antonio Hawkins bulldozed his way to a foot shy of the goal line on the first snap. Blaize kept on a quarterback sneak for the score, but Brush's PAT kick attempt failed. The Tigers had the lead at 12-10 with 2:56 remaining in the third quarter.

John Demarcus mishandled the ensuing kickoff for D'Iberville and Calhoun clocked him as he picked it up at his own 15 yardline. A procedure penalty prior to the snap backed the Warriors up 5 yards to the ten yardline. The Tigers allowed a net -1 yards on the following three snaps as Brad Ladner recorded a sack for a three yard loss on third down.

The Tigers failed to pick up a first down on their ensuing series, so the Tigers defense went right back to work, picking up right where they left off on the Warriors' prior possession. Robert Labat timed his hit of the Warriors' receiver at the point of ball contact resulting in an incomplete pass near midfield. Two plays later Ladner deflected Jake Oliver's pass at the line of scrimmage, forcing another Warriors' punt.

Lewis returned the ensuing punt 8 yards to give the Tigers good field position at midfield. The Tigers failed to convert a third-and-one situation, followed by a critical fourth-and-one situation at the D'Iberville 41 yardline. But again, the Tigers stingy defense held the Warriors to a net 3 yards on three snaps, forcing another Warriors' punt.

D'Iberville won the field position battle with a huge punt, a 49-yarder going out of bounds at the Tigers 7 yardline.

The Tigers failed to produce a first down, forcing a punt from deep inside their own territory. Tony Marino, filling in at punter, nailed a 32-yarder, giving the Warriors decent field position at the Tigers' 43 yardline.

Austin Holley scooted for 11 yards to give the Warriors at least field goal range at the Tigers' 26 yardline. Holley was tackled for the line of scrimmage on the next snap, and Trevor Adam on a blitz, dropped him for a one-yard loss on the following snap, setting up a third-and-11 yards for a first down at the Tigers' 27 yardline. The Tigers' secondary and linebackers appeared to be defending the potential outside pass, and D'Iberville caught them off-guard with the center screen pass from Oliver to Wesley Ladner just over the line of scrimmage. Ladner went untouched for the score.

Ladner added to his game heroics as he intercepted Blaize on a tipped pass with just over 42 seconds remaining in the game, closing ending the Tigers' chances for comeback.

Offensively, Blaize completed nine of 20 passes for 92 yards and interceptions. Thomas had three receptions for 42 yards. Lewis had three receptions for 21 yards. Ladner had 2 receptions for 23 yards. Hawkins gained 34 yards on 13 rushes, followed by Lewis with 28 yards on six carries and a touchdown. Blaize rushed for 1 yard which was good for a touchdown.

Defensively, Ladner led the Tigers with 11 tackles and a sack, followed by Steven Dauenhauer with 8 tackles and Adam with 8 tackles and a caused fumble. Lewis added 7 tackles and a sack, and Perkins recorded 7 tackles.

The loss puts the Tigers at 4-3 (1-2, district) as they host St. Stanislaus next Friday at McCullough Stadium.

Peoples Bank to open new Waveland branch Tuesday

The Peoples Bank's 18th branch will open for business in Waveland at 9 a.m. Tuesday (October 12), earlier than originally anticipated, announced Chevis C. Swetman, chairman and chief executive officer of the branch.

"Despite the distraction of hurricanes, we have been able to complete construction of our new Waveland branch ahead of schedule," said Swetman, "so we decided to go ahead and open right away to offer better service and more convenience to our customers in Hancock County," he said.

Manager of the Waveland branch is Basil Kennedy, a 27-year banking veteran in Hancock County. W.G. Yates Construction served as contractor for the new branch, which is located at 470 U.S. Highway 90 just west of State Road 603 and in front of the new Super Wal-Mart.

The 2,350-square-foot building includes two drive-up teller lanes, a 24-hour drive-up ATM and an after-hours depository. In addition, the branch offers approximately 140 safe deposit boxes.

The formal grand opening ceremony is scheduled for 10 a.m. Thursday October 28, said Swetman.

Founded in 1896, with $617 million in assets as of September 30, 2004, The Peoples Bank operates 16 full-service branches and 37 ATMs along the Mississippi Gulf Coast in Hancock, Harrison, Jackson and Stone counties. In addition to a comprehensive range of retail and commercial banking services, the bank also operates an investment and trust department that has provided customers with financial, estate and retirement planning services since 1936.

Job opportunities available at Veteran's Career Day Fair

Due to bad weather from Hurricane Ivan, the Veteran's Career Day Fair will be held once more to accommodate anyone who was unable to attend. Job seekers will have access to more than 25 employers at the Veteran's Career Day Fair in Forest the Mississippi Department of Employment Security (MDES).

The Veteran's Career Day Fair will be held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Thursday, October 21, in the National Guard Armory located at 300 Frontage Rd. The Veteran's Career Day Fair is open to Veterans only and is sponsored by the Veteran's Workforce Investment Network through MDES's WIN Job Centers.

"The employers who will be at our Job Fair are there for one reason and that is to find employees," said Local Veterans Employment Representative Derek Davis.

Davis said that participating employers represent a wide range of skill levels and types of jobs. Job opportunities include city, state and federal government positions, law enforcement, medical, manufacturing, truck driving, computer-related positions, management and education.

Davis said participating employers include the FBI, The Highway Patrol, The Department of Corrections, Georgia Pacific, ESCO, La-Z-Boy, Coca-Cola, Luvel Dairy, Color Box, Tyson Foods, and Peco Foods to name a few.

Davis advises job seekers to arrive early, dress appropriately for a job interview and bring several copies of their resumes. "And if you have children," Davis said, "make arrangements for your children so that you can interview with employers." Human resources representatives from various employers will accept resumes and applications and conduct interviews.

Company to increase business in Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—St. Paul Travelers, the nation's second largest commercial insurance company, says it will increase business in Mississippi.

Insurance Commissioner George Dale says. "This new development occurs in response to the positive steps the state of Mississippi has taken towards creating a balanced legal climate that makes the state a more attractive place in which to do business," Dale said Wednesday in a release.

St. Paul Travelers will begin increasing its homeowners and auto insureds in the state of Mississippi by taking an automobile rate reduction next month," he said.

The Legislature passed a civil justice reform law this year.

Among other things, the new law caps pain-and-suffering damage awards at $1 million in most lawsuits. It keeps the $500,000 pain-and-suffering cap adopted in 2002 for medical malpractice cases, but it erases a cost-of-living provision that would have increased the $500,000 cap over the years.

Dale said Minnesota-based St. Paul Travelers also plans to offer other lines of insurance to industries like construction and financial institutions.

Jackson Hewitt® Computerized Tax Course Starts Soon
Graduates say they have put their new skills to work!

"I love it so much I decided to work part time during the tax season," said Joseph Rutkowski, a retiree from Hagerstown, MD.

He is referring to the Jackson Hewitt® Computerized Tax Course. Offered at this time each year, it provides graduates with the tax knowledge and computer skills they need to prepare tax returns.

"I needed to supplement my retirement income. So last fall I heard about Jackson Hewitt's Computerized Income Tax Course. With the extra money I now make as a tax preparer, I am able to maintain a better standard of living."

The course takes six weeks to complete and gives graduates the necessary training to prepare individual tax returns and to potentially earn extra money during the tax season. Students meet two times a week to take the course that combines instructor-led training with self-paced learning on the computer. Students are given an overview from the instructor and then move on to the computer to learn more detailed information through a self-paced CD. Objective testing and reviews check the students' progress. By the end of the course, students will be armed with the tax knowledge generally needed for preparing tax returns. Upon completion, graduates may receive interviews for employment at a local Jackson Hewitt location.

From college students to military spouses to retirees, graduates of the computerized course improve themselves as well as their pocketbooks. Although some graduates have a background in accounting, many do not. However once they complete the course using state-of-the-art computerized equipment, they have no trouble preparing most tax returns.

For more information, please call 1-866-680-1040 or visit our website at www.jacksonhewitt.com

Most offices are independently owned and operated. Completion of this course is neither an offer nor a guarantee of employment.

Paris fashion week opens with spotlight on rising stars

BY JOCELYN GECKER
Associated Press Writer

Yohji Yamamoto paid tribute to elegance and the female form in his spring ready-to-wear show Monday that opened Paris fashion week on a high note.

A rapturous cello played as models paraded an utterly wearable collection of long silk skirts, streamlined linen suits and evening wear accented by expertly crafted drapery and flattering cuts.

Yamamoto's signature black and white opened the collection for spring-summer 2005 — a black pleated skirt with a fitted white button-down, silky black capri pants with sexy off-the-shoulder white tops.

Then came stunning bursts of color — a bright red linen suit, full-length sundresses in gauzy comfortable cottons of red or a delicate sage green.

Long, considered the thinking woman's designer, Yamamoto showcased a line of linen suits that were as suitable for an office as an evening lawn party. Jackets were always ladylike, varying from long-waisted and wide-armed to off-the-shoulder necklines with prim French cuffs. Trousers were worn full cut and skirts slim.

Clothing was the focus. Some models walked the catwalk barefoot, others in sensible rubber soled sneakers in white or black.

Recasting a lab technician's white cloak as a starched coat dress or jumpsuit, Yamamoto retreated to another signature theme: elevating a worker's suit to something special. One of them was dressed up by a covering of fine silky black lace.

"I was enjoying contrast," Yamamoto said backstage. "Cheap cotton — expensive silk. Kind of basic fabrics but in my favorite shape or motion."

A theme of pretty, open necklines was most exquisite in evening wear — an ensemble of gowns that paired the flatness of silk with the texture of accordion pleats, sometimes braided or draped around the contours of the female form.

The Japanese designer was the biggest name to show Monday, which mostly spotlighted younger designers.

France's Gaspard Yurkievich joined a crop of rising talents from across the European Union, unveiling sassy and sexy collections full of youthful attitude and gritty city glamour.

Yurkievich threw a rock concert with a live band to set the mood for his sparkly feminine mini dresses and elegant high-waisted trousers that showed off his haute-couture training.

Sundresses in lavender, black, sage and silver were cut to flatter with a sleeveless and airy open neckline or short sleeves with light gathers that created a fitted, elongated upper arm.

Elegance came in 1940s inspired trousers topped with a high-waisted cummerbund of three-thin belts over a flowing pants leg. The same waistband topped a slim, silky knee-length skirt in elegant black or light blue with tiny navy dots.

"It's absolutely urban,"

Yurkievich said backstage at the Salle Wagram, a historic theater near the Champs-Élysées.

The designer assisted Thierry Mugler and Jean-Paul Gaultier before launching his solo career.

"I try to express sensuality, modernity and elegance. But I try to mix couture details with casual details," Yurkievich said.

Giant bows were twisted across the front of halter tops or across the waistband of skirts — a tough look to pull off for anyone carrying her own natural weight in those areas.

Belgium's Bruno Pieters said his inspiration came from "Zabriskie Point," a bleak look at 1960s America by Italian director Michelangelo Antonioni. The film set in the desert landscape of Death Valley shaped the sandy colors of Pieters' palette.

Stylish safari jackets were paired with loose-fitting apron pants. Baby doll silhouettes reappeared throughout the collection, notably in a silky silver tank dress accented by a slim vertical row of pleats down the center.

Some dresses were less wearable, like a black gauzy tank dress that was a miniskirt in the front and dropped to floor length in the back. Another asymmetrical tank dress appeared inspired by a white crocheted blanket — not the stuff to pack for a day in the desert.

A fellow Belgian, 27-year-old Tim Van Steenberghe, showed sundresses pinned with giant flowers on one shoulder — a wink to Sarah Jessica Parker's trendsetting "Sex in the City."

Pleats dressed up simple skirts and T-shirts, while comfort reigned in flat sandals and Thai-fisherman-style baggy cotton pants.

Desiree Heiss and Ines Kaag, the Paris and Berlin-based duo behind the label Bless, brought multimedia to the catwalk. Models mingled among screens showing images of moving traffic on a Paris boulevard.

Dress For Success

We live in a day and age where casual office attire is the norm. In many workplaces, you'll see employees in shorts in the summer and jeans in the winter. The days of wearing a jacket and tie to the office are slowly becoming obsolete.

But don't wear cut offs and your favorite concert T-shirt to an interview. While casual may be the trend in office attire, when it comes to interviews, experts advise that you stick with more "formal" wear to make a strong first impression. Casual may be trendy, but business suits will always be accepted as standard interview attire. That's why it can't hurt to err on the side of conservatism when choosing what to wear to an interview.

Don't sweat at the thought of spending hundreds of dollars on new suits. You don't need to buy a new wardrobe just for interviewing. Invest in one or two quality suits in a muted shade, and get them tailored to flatter your body. It's okay to wear the same suit more than once to a company. You can always change the look with an alternate shirt or tie. It's better to own one good suit than wear ones that aren't so sharp.

Not sure where to start? Here are some dos and don'ts of proper interview attire.

DO: Men should wear a full-body, loose suit or coordinating sport jacket and trousers in solid colors like dark blue, gray or black. Underneath, wear a long-sleeved shirt in white or pastel. Women should wear a classic suit or simple dress with a jacket in colors like navy, black, dark green, dark red, burgundy or gray.

DON'T: Men should not have lapels that are too wide (more than 3 inches) or too narrow (less than 1 inch). Men should avoid suits in bold prints or patterns. Women should not wear skirts more than 3 inches above the knee. Female suits should not be too tight, revealing or trendy.

DO: Accessories like purses, jewelry and shoes should be conservative. Wear only one earring per ear. Women can wear one or two rings on each hand, and men should only wear their wedding or college ring. Shoes should be polished and conservative.

DON'T: If you have any body piercings such as on your nose or eyebrow, don't put jewelry in them. Cover any tattoos and avoid gaudy jewelry.

DO: Keep hair well-groomed. Nails should be trimmed and clean. If you wear nail polish, keep it a conservative color or clear.

Stores to be renovated in Kmart's bid to reassert itself

FROM THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kmart Holding Corp. plans to renovate a number of its stores, marking the first major investment in stores since the retailer emerged from Chapter 11 bankruptcy protection last year.

Work began last week on Kmart stores in White Plains, N.Y. and in Boca Raton, Fla. Kmart officials declined to say how many other stores would be renovated, where they would be located or what they will look like.

"We are committed to improving the customer experience and these stores are an example of how we're working to do that," Kmart spokesman Stephen Pagnani told the Detroit Free Press for a Tuesday story.

The Troy-based retailer also has embarked on a multi-pronged effort to reinvent its clothing lines to appeal to the young and fashion-conscious, The Detroit News reported.

After opening a Manhattan styling studio and hiring a former Gap executive to refocus and expand its fashion merchandise, the company is now running ads in Rolling Stone and Vanity Fair magazine alongside brands such as Ralph Lauren and Cartier.

At the same time, Kmart has partnered with youth-oriented WB television, placing their clothes on the young stars of "One Tree Hill," "7th Heaven," "Reba" and two new programs, "Summerland" and "Blue Collar TV."

The fate of Kmart has been the focus of considerable local and national speculation for the past year as it sold stores and watched its stock price increase four fold.

Kmart Chairman Edward Lampert — a

Greenwich, Conn., financier, has not said publicly how he planned to invest roughly $3 billion in Kmart's bulging bank account. And the company has not disclosed plans to do anything more than basic maintenance on its stores.

That led analysts to doubt the company intended to invest into its aging store base. Instead, under Lampert's leadership, the chain has rethought the merchandise it sells, reducing the overall offerings and reinventing its apparel lines.

Kmart recently sold 68 stores for $847 million to Sears Roebuck & Co. and Home Depot Inc. Kmart closed 599 stores during its bankruptcy and has seen sales fall from $36 billion to $23 billion.

Despite that, the company's stock price has skyrocketed from the low of $22.41 to Monday's close of $90.20 as investors speculate on Lampert's plans. Some have viewed the company as a real estate investment rather than a retailer.

But news of the prototype stores could tell the investment community that Lampert is serious about making Kmart a viable retailer — and shows he is willing to put new money into the stores.

"This proves that Kmart is a retailing story, not just a real estate story," said Richard Hastings, chief retail economist with New York-based Bernard Sands, a research firm.

Makeup Lesson: Fact Versus Fiction

Who hasn't heard tales that chocolate gives you pimples or that touching frogs gives you warts? There are many urban legends or old wives tales that we believe either out of habit or tradition. They usually pertain to staying healthy and looking good.

The same logic applies to using cosmetics, which is full of its own share of tall tales. Have you heard that heavy foundation covers eye circles or that dark lipstick makes lips look fuller? These are just two of the many tales that just aren't true.

Just like urban legends, there is fact behind every piece of fiction. Learn some of the truths here from the make-up experts themselves.

Myth: Heavy foundation will cover lines and wrinkles.

Truth: The heavier the foundation, the more likely it is to settle into the lines. Instead, use a lightweight product, which will give you a smooth-looking complexion.

Myth: Apply products liberally.

Truth: The skin only requires a certain amount of product, like moisturizer. Once it has what it needs, the rest will evaporate. Start by applying the necessary amount of product and see how it looks. You can always add more later.

Myth: It's okay to overdo blush.

Truth: When you apply makeup, you are usually doing it from a close-up mirror. Instead, step a few feet away from the mirror and see how you look from afar.

The mirror does not lie. Do you know what's fact or fiction in the world of makeup?

Myth: Dark lipstick makes thin lips look fuller.

Truth: The paler your lip color, the fuller your lips will look. For fuller looking lips, try a light, shimmery shade. Or dab a shimmery shade into the middle of lips lined in a solid color.

Myth: Blemish concealer should be lighter than your skin tone.

Truth: Lighter concealer will make blemishes more noticeable. The best way to cover a blemish is to match it to your skin tone as closely as possible.

Myth: A darker shade of foundation can make you look tan.

Truth: Actually, it can make it look obvious that you're wearing makeup. Rather, use a foundation that matches your skin tone. A sunless tanner and bronzer can also do the trick.

Learning to Sow Good Seeds

Just as farmers will sow seeds in order to raise their crops, those who follow God's ways are sowing seeds of our Lord's love. In the Bible, we are told the Parable of the Sower, who scattered his seeds in the field: some seeds fell along the path and the birds ate them; some fell on rocky ground where there was little soil; and, some fell among the thorn bushes, which grew up and choked the plants. But still, some seeds fell upon good soil, and these plants sprouted and bore much grain. Our Lord explains this Parable by saying that some people hear the message and disregard it, while others receive the message, but when trouble and persecution comes they simply give up. Still, there are others who hear the message, but the worries and concerns about this life choke out the good news. And then, there are those who hear the message, accept it, and bear much fruit. The way we live our lives should be an example for those around us, and we should try to reflect the love and compassion of our Heavenly Father. Nurturing and improving our relationship with God, and living our lives in a way that is pleasing to Him, will help us to sow seeds that bear good fruit.

You did not choose me; I chose you and appointed you to go and bear much fruit, the kind of fruit that endures.

Mother nature really knows best

Of the many arresting sights in Rome of 1957, perhaps the most gripping, interesting and human was a mother breastfeeding her child in a streetcar, in a bus, on a bench along any street, in a public building, or just anywhere at any given time. The most noteworthy thing about the spectacle was that it was in no way out of the ordinary.

So natural was it that no one except visitors took a second glance, and even those who did were overcome with the comfortable feeling that this was perfectly natural and all was well with Rome and the world. So, just how natural was public breastfeeding?

Fast-forward to the 21st century and, lo and behold, health scientists are touting the many virtues and advantages of breastfeeding. For the last six decades at least, there has been considerable talk about the numerous good things which accompany breastfeeding.

It is no surprise at all that a mother's milk is precisely engineered to meet the exacting nutrient requirements of the baby, so that no substitute comes close to matching it. On the contrary, substitutes invariably carry with them penalties such as allergies, a weaker immune system which caves in to various diseases, and inferior physical development.

There is a great urgency about that somewhat narrow, once-in-a-lifetime window of opportunity from birth to weaning when inferior nutrients retard development of the infant's systems of cells, nerves, bones, muscles, tendons and immunity.

Bottle-feeding of yesteryear was almost totally objectionable, because its formula was usually based on some variation of cow's milk to which many, especially blacks, are allergic. However, even other ethnic groups have problems with milk which is changed to inorganic by pasteurization. Rejected by the body, it is converted into uric acid.

You just cannot fool Mother Nature. Why would anyone want to employ a markedly inferior product and delivery system for infant nutrition when Mother Nature went to great lengths to set up the smart, efficient system of mothers producing their own milk?

Breastfeeding provides the right fuel at the right time during those earliest days of the newborn infant who needs the very best nourishment to jump-start the wonderful cycle of life embedded in intense eating, sleeping and pulsating physical development.

Yes, it is abundantly clear that Mother Nature knows best in having the mother, the closest person to her child, produce milk from her own system. Again, how well she produces depends on her genes, but in great part on her food and drink intake, on her exercise and sleep habits, and on her overall lifestyle and care of her health.

Health scientists are quick to point out other astounding benefits of breastfeeding, such as a far better development of the baby's voice which becomes both stronger and more appealing in timber and sound than the voice of bottle-fed babies.

In providing nutritionally complete milk for her baby, a breastfeeding mother gives her infant antibodies for fighting bacterial infections, and all the components necessary for development of the body, vision and the digestive system.

This, plus the enhanced physical well-being of the nursing mother, helps breastfeeding mothers find incredibly rewarding fulfillment in nursing their babies the nature way.

With all these varied and wonderful benefits accruing from breast-feeding, why do relatively so few mothers, except in developing countries, engage in breastfeeding? It would appear that a contrary, ingrained culture is the main culprit. The culture in this country ignores or disdains breast-feeding because it is not accustomed to it.

Worse, the people of the United States tend to look askance at women who dare to breast-feed in public.

"Embarrassing!" the women themselves sometimes say. One would think that, with all the misplaced nudity to which we are exposed on every side, people would welcome the wholesome sight of a mother nursing.

Naturally, a huge amount of ignorance follows this cultural distortion, because we tend to ignore and not inquire about customs to which we object or to which we are indifferent. Hence, the mindless gawking when a mother nurses her child in public.

It is debatable whether ignorance is worse than inconvenience or laziness, the most common excuse for not breastfeeding. Knowing all the negative health issues which can and probably will afflict an infant, can a healthy mother live with herself and with her conscience if she eschews breast-feeding her child for the sake of convenience?

Unfortunately, many women do not breastfeed because some hospital policies separate mothers and infants, and some hospital nurseries use baby bottles. Breastfeeding is also discouraged by manufacturers who offer mothers gifts of baby formula.

The first week of August brought us World Breastfeeding Week which publicizes, popularizes and celebrates the many virtues and benefits of breastfeeding. Sponsored by the World Alliance for Breastfeeding Action, World Breastfeeding Week educates and provides moral support to mothers and prospective mothers.

Additionally, we can thank La Leche League International (LLL), the principal proponent of breastfeeding, for most of the promotional work done on behalf of the important cause of breastfeeding. With 8,000 leaders and 3,000 local groups in the U.S., LLL provides a vital mother-to-mother helping network.

Mothers, whoever and wherever you are, you and we have nothing to lose and everything to gain if as many as of you as possible practice and promote breast-feeding.

Reflections on Life

by Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

Scripture Says . . .

By Ed Young

The Lord's Prayer

"Our Father Who Art in Heaven." Do we really think of Him as our Father, someone we are closely connected to?

"Hallowed be Thy name."

Is that the name we often use when cursing, or in reverence?

"Thy Kingdom come."

Yes, His Kingdom someday will be established here on earth.

"Thy will be done, on Earth as it is in Heaven."

It is the will of the Lord to rule and reign and bring a Heavenly kingdom to earth; for His government is a theocracy.

"Give us this day our daily bread."

The staff of life is just not food, but our daily needs, the Lord will supply if we ask him to.

"Forgive us our sins as we forgive those who have sinned against us."

Difficult to do, but it is a must to God. A righteous God forgives us, we must forgive the person who wronged us. It's a must.

"Lead us not into temptation." The Lord is aware of our weaknesses and heads off trouble we could easily have fallen into.

"Deliver us from evil."

How can He do that? Because He is the power and the glory forever and ever.

So the Lord's Prayer tells us to: Talk to our Heavenly Father. To honor His name, get to know His will. Trust Him for your daily needs and learn to forgive one another.

Do this daily and you will be surprised with the results.

The "Word" for the Week

Dennis J. Prutow • Box 303, Sterling, KS 67579

Christ our priest

Let's play a word game. I'll give you different words. Who do you think of first? President. Queen. Prime Minister. Those are easy aren't they? Famous names pop into your head immediately. Who do you think of when I give you the word priest? You most likely think of a man in a clerical collar. Do you think of Jesus Christ? Probably not! But why? The most obvious reason is that you do not think of Christ as a priest. A priest performs sacrifices. Christ was a man who went around doing good and then was put to death on a cross. That just shows good guys don't always win. Wait a minute, Christ did perform a sacrifice. He offered the ultimate sacrifice. He gave Himself. Yes, Jesus was betrayed into the hands of those who crucified Him. But He reminded His disciples, "Do you think that I cannot appeal to my Father, and He will at once put at my disposal more than twelve legions of angels?" (Matthew 26:53). The point is, Christ determined to go to the cross. Christ went to the cross to sacrifice Himself for the sins of people like you and me. Because Christ was God in Human form, He was perfect. He was "tempted in all things as we are, yet without sin" (Hebrews 4:15). He could therefore offer Himself as a perfect sacrifice for sin. Christ did win. Christ was raised again from the grave! So the wonderful thing is that those who trust in the sacrifice of Christ for their sins receive forgiveness from God; no matter how small or how large the sin may be. Have you trusted in Christ as your priest?

OLG to host world famous virtuoso Dame Gillian Weir

THE SEA COAST ECHO

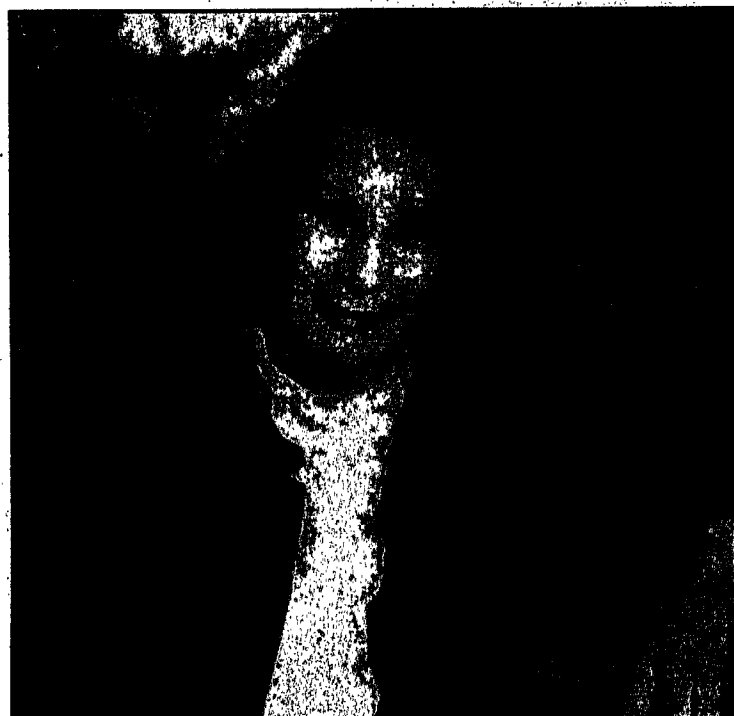

On Tuesday, Oct. 12, Hancock County will have the unique opportunity to enjoy classical music from one of the great organ virtuosos of our time - Britain's Dame Gillian Weir - during a special concert at Our Lady of the Gulf Church at 7pm.

Parishioners and interested community leaders are hosting a series of pre-concert Salon Parties in local homes to fully enjoy this once in a lifetime experience. The concert is open to all interested individuals throughout the Gulf Coast.

Tickets to the concert are $10 per person in advance and $15 at the door. Children and senior citizens tickets are $7 in advance and $12 at the door. Seating for the concert is limited so you are encouraged to purchase your tickets in advance by calling Tish Williams at 467-9048 or through OLG Church at 467-6509 or by stopping by the OLG Rectory at 228 S. Beach in Bay St. Louis.

This event will showcase the newly restored and enhanced organ of OLG Church orchestrated by Charles Dickinson, Parish volunteer and Edward Grotkowski, director of music for OLG Church. Grotkowski called Gillian Weir one of the 100 greatest players of the century. A reception will follow the concert at the OLG Community Center.

British concert organist Dame Gillian Weir is one of the foremost musicians in the world today. Combining natural talent, study and hard work along with copious amounts of grace, charm, and wit, she has defined an entirely new role as an ambassador for the King of Instruments and its music.

Through her performances with leading orchestras and conductors, non-stop recital tours, public television programmes, interviews, recordings and master classes, Dame Gillian has transformed the image of organist from esoteric musician to beloved celebrity. Performer, scholar and teacher, she has opened the eyes of the world to the music of the organ with her extensive travels and tours throughout Europe, North America, Australia, and Japan. Her stop in Hancock County is the only concert she will perform throughout the Deep South.

'Nova' recounts tale of history's Typhoid Mary

By John Crook
© Zap2it

Her name today is a dated punch line, a comic reference to anyone who is widely and avidly shunned.

There was nothing comic, however, about the real life of Irish immigrant Mary Mallon, better known as "Typhoid Mary," and PBS' award-winning "Nova" vividly recounts her star-crossed personal history in "The Most Dangerous Woman in America," premiering Tuesday, Oct. 12.

This gripping hour, which unfolds almost like a lost episode of "Mystery!" opens with an atypical summer 1906 cluster of typhoid cases in a posh home in Oyster Bay, Long Island. The concerned owner of the house hires civil engineer George Soper (played by Tony nominee Jere Shea of "Passion") to pinpoint the source of the infection, which was common in the filthy slums but almost unheard-of among upper middle-class families.

Ruling out the water supply and local shellfish, Soper ultimately links the outbreak to Mary Mallon (Marian Tomas Griffin, "As the World Turns"), who recently had worked as the family cook. He tracks her down after discovering typhoid outbreaks where she had worked previously.

Although Mallon had never even realized she was infected with the deadly disease, she is, as one New York newspaper described her, "a walking typhoid fever factory," an apparently healthy woman who spreads the disease through the food she prepares.

Following the procedures of the time, Mallon is sent to a quarantine island in New York's East River. It is a cruel twist of fate for this woman, who had invested years of hard work to elevate herself to one of the very few jobs that could provide one such as her with a living wage: a household cook.

After a few years in quarantine, Mallon is released on condition that she never again work in food preparation and check in regularly with health officials for checkups. In short order, however, Mallon vanishes back into the New York melting pot, until she resurfaces a few years later in shocking new circumstances that bring this "Nova" to a startling close.

Sports Best Bets

By Mark Passaro
Zap2it

"NFL Football" Monday, Oct. 11 (ABC, 9 p.m. ET): Two teams favored to win their respective divisions meet in this interconference battle at Green Bay's Lambeau Field. Led by the ageless Brett Favre, the Packers are once again the pick of many in the NFC North, but a 21-10 whipping at the hands of the Chicago Bears in Week 2 has many in the frozen tundra scratching their heads. Warhorse Steve McNair leads the AFC South-dwelling Titan offense, which has replaced veteran RB Eddie George with second-year man Chris Brown.

"MLB Baseball" Tuesday, Oct. 12 (Fox, 8 p.m. ET): Major League Baseball's postseason participants have dwindled to four teams, two of which square off tonight in Game 1 of the American League Championship Series. Their counterparts in the National League get started Wednesday, continuing a stretch of daily playoff action on Fox that could last until Oct. 21 if each best-of-seven series goes the limit. The World Series is slated to begin Oct. 23.

"NASCAR Racing" Saturday, Oct. 16 (NBC, 7:20 p.m. ET): If past success portends future checkered flags, then five drivers in the top 10 enter the UAW-GM Quality 500 - the only night race in the "Chase for the Nextel Cup" - as favorites. Tony Stewart, Matt Kenseth, Mark Martin, Jeff Gordon and Jimmie Johnson all have won at Lowe's Motor Speedway in Concord, N.C. Stewart is this race's defending champ, while fresh in Johnson's mind is his May victory at Lowe's in the Coca-Cola 600.

Orlando Jones

By Kate O'Hare

Although TV audiences know him best for his 7 UP television commercials, Orlando Jones, who voices the gopher Snack in NBC's "Father of the Pride," has done most of his acting work on the big screen.

One of his most recent films was "Biker Boyz," opposite Laurence Fishburne, produced by DreamWorks, which does "Father of the Pride." So Jones wasn't entirely surprised when the phone rang and it was DreamWorks chief Jeffrey Katzenberg.

"He was telling me he wanted to do a show that was groundbreaking, subversive animation for adults on TV. There was nothing at that point."

After a brief intro to the series, set behind the scenes among the animals of Siegfried & Roy's Las Vegas show, Jones signed on.

"At that point, I didn't even know what character I was going to play."

A veteran of both comedy and drama, Jones had never before, though, played a gopher, especially one who's the best pal of a white lion, voiced by John Goodman.

"Do I have any idea why they might see me as a gopher? Jones says. "That's a tough one. You're asking me to crawl into the mind of a Hollywood executive."

Actually, Snack may be the first showbiz gopher since the greens-ruining rascal that bedeviled Bill Murray in "Caddyshack."

"I think Snack would be mortally offended by that," Jones says. "He definitely feels like the gopher from 'Caddyshack' is a stereotypical gopher, living in a cubbyhole on the golf course while the white man plays his game."

"Why can't gophers be friends with lions? live in homes, talk? That guy on 'Caddyshack' was a mute. That was the old days. He was a minstrel show, that gopher. Snack is the new, improved gopher for television."

Birthplace: Mobile, Ala., on April 10, making him an Aries. But Jones attended high school and college in neighboring South Carolina.

Fizz buzz: Jones was the original TV-ad pitchman for the soft drink 7 UP.

Film credits: Jones has worked with such directors as Barry Levinson ("Liberty Heights"), Ivan Reitman ("Evolution") and Harold Ramis ("Bedazzled"). He also worked with first-time feature director (and "Evolution" co-star and pal) David Duchovny in the upcoming "House of D."

TV credits: After beginning as a writer on "A Different World," produced and wrote for "Roc" and "Sinbad," Jones went to sketch comedy on "Mad TV."

USA's 'Frankenstein' updates a horror classic

By Kate O'Hare
© Zap2it

Those who tuned in last week for Hallmark Channel's miniseries "Frankenstein" saw a reasonably faithful adaptation of the 1818 novel by Mary Shelley. "Frankenstein, or the Modern Prometheus" about a young scientist named Victor Frankenstein whose zeal to understand and create life gets wildly out of hand.

Those who tune in Sunday, Oct. 10, to USA Network's two-hour movie backdoor-pilot "Frankenstein" will immediately notice one major difference: there's nobody in it actually named Frankenstein.

"No, there is not," executive producer John Shibani ("The X-Files") says, "although he is referred to. We're supposedly the reality behind the myth; that's the way we look at it. You can watch it the Hallmark way then you can see ours. We're not your granddad's Frankenstein."

The idea began as a one-hour script written by famed horror novelist Dean Koontz. Indeed, emblazoned under "Frankenstein" on the press-kit cover is "Based on characters created by Dean Koontz." Just in case, one supposes, any Shelley aficionados get confused.

Shibani - whose major gig after "The X-Files" was a one-year stint on "Star Trek: Enterprise" - was brought in to take the one-hour pilot script and transform it into a two-hour pilot movie.

"I changed it and did my thing and brought what I brought to it," he says. "I've always been in the genre and a fan of horror movies, and this was the first very interesting take on the old myth. That was an opportunity to add my own stamp to the pantheon, as it were."

Everyone wants to do a monster movie, and this was a chance to do one that is different and special.

Early on in the process, the thought was that the project would be set in Seattle and filmed in Vancouver, Canada - a familiar haunt to Shibani from his "X" days - but the lure of tax incentives and a fresh look took the story down to New Orleans.

"That adds to everything," Shibani says. "It adds to the look of the show. It adds to the performances. When they're sweating, they're really sweating. And the food is great."

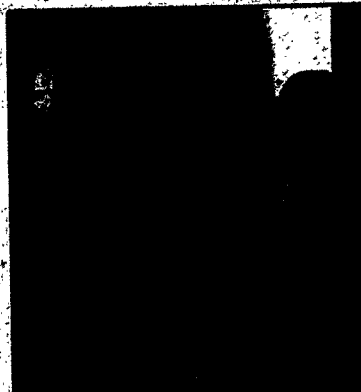

For Shibani, local flavor also meant a bit more than gumbo. "We had the occasional palm that had to be gassed, all those things. But I would shoot there again in a second, because it really brought something to it, and it's a fun place to hang out."

Marcus Nispel, who directed the 2003 version of "The Texas Chainsaw Massacre," came on to direct, bringing with him cinematographer Daniel Pearl, who shot Tobe Hooper's original 1974 movie as well as Nispel's remake. Those who saw the new "Chainsaw" will recognize Nispel's fascination with moody lighting, deep shadows and lots and lots of water.

"He loves the dripping," Shibani says. "He's a very textural kind of director. It's amazing how much he can pack into a frame."

Scripted by Shibani, the new version stars Parker Posey and Adam Goldberg as, respectively, New Orleans Detective Carson O'Connor and Michael Sloane, who are working on a series of mutilation murders (complete with missing organs) with the unwelcome help of Carson's nemesis, Detective Barker (Michael Madsen).

The detectives are puzzled when the latest victim turns out to have two hearts and rock-hard bones, and even more puzzled when the corpse is mysteriously destroyed. As Carson explores the victim's apartment in search of his identity, she comes into contact with Deacon (Vincent Perez), the scarred first creation of scientist Victor Helios

"Frankenstein," premiering Sunday on USA Network, stars Vincent Perez, Thomas Kretschmann and Ivana Milicevic (from left).

(Thomas Kretschmann). Deacon reveals that Helios is a couple of centuries old, kept alive by bizarre surgeries, and that he plans to create a race of beings to replace humans.

O'Connor and Sloane then pursue their suspect through the ornate, gilded halls and elegantly decaying buildings of The Big Easy - and even a few that weren't decaying so elegantly.

"The last location we were shooting in," Goldberg recalls, "was by far the least sanitary location I've ever worked in or will ever work in, which was an abandoned power plant, where you literally couldn't see your hand in front of your face. They didn't have to do any ambulance to it, because it was this blacked-out, subterranean power plant. It was rusted, and it was raining that day, so water was dripping through the ceiling. It was a little decay in my Florida shoes. I just tried not to touch anything."

Masterson played Baranski's 'Cybill' son

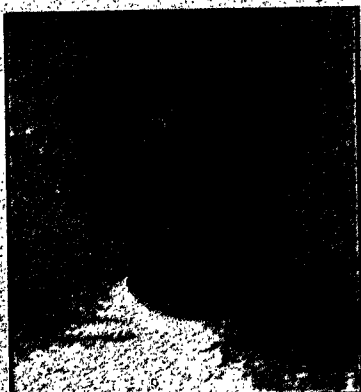

By Taylor Michaels
© Zap2it

Q Please give me any info you have on the actor who plays Steven Hyde on "That '70s Show." He's cute! - L. Williams, Columbus, Ohio.

A A native of Long Island, N.Y., Danny Masterson, 28, made his TV debut at age 11 with a 1988 guest appearance on "Jake and the Fat Man." He attracted more serious notice with his 1993 series debut in the short-lived 1993 ABC sitcom "Joe's Life," in which he played the first in a series of mischief-making characters.

Masterson completed 10th grade in public school, but had to switch to tutoring at that point because his acting career was kicking into overdrive. Between "Joe's Life" and "That '70s Show," he co-starred with James Brown and Cameron Bancroft in ABC's 1995 adventure series "Extreme," and played Christine Baranski's character's teenage son Justin in "Cybill."

His TV guest appearances include "Roseanne," "NYPD Blue," "American

Danny Masterson

Gothic," "Party of Five," "Sliders," "Grounded for Life" and "King of the Hill."

Film and TV movie credits include "Beethoven's 2nd," "Bye Bye Love," "Seduced by Madness: The Diane Borchardt Story," "Her Last Chance," "Face/Off," "Trojan War," "Star Kid," "The Faculty," "Wild Horses," "Too

Pure," "Dracula 2000" and "Strange Frequency."

As you probably know, Danny is the older brother of Christopher Kennedy Masterson of "Malcolm in the Middle." The brothers are co-owners of Afton Kutcher's upscale Los Angeles restaurant Dolce, along with "70s Show" costar Wilmer Valderrama and actor Jamie Kennedy. The eatery was in the news recently when it was burglarized twice over the Labor Day weekend.

Q John Ritter played a priest on either "Judging Amy" or "Family Law." Which one was it? - L.E. Woodridge, N.J.

A Ritter played Father Andrews in a 2000 episode of "Family Law" titled "Possession Is Nine Tenth of the Law."

Kim Zimmer pulls mom duty

Kim Zimmer

By Paulette Cohen
© Zap2it

If Kim Zimmer hasn't been out and about as much as she has in the past, she wants her fans to know that it's because she's putting in some serious mom time when she's not playing Reva on "Guiding Light."

"They always say the older they get, the easier it gets," comments the mother of three. "Not true. The older they get, the more difficult it gets."

Zimmer's two sons and her daughter are athletic, so she spends a great deal of time chauffeuring her gang to ball fields and gymnastics. And her oldest son, Jake, has taken up acting. He appeared in the season finale of "Law & Order: SVU" and previously, he played a young boy who came to Reva when she was psychic to get in touch with his dead father.

"Jake has been working as an agent since he was 11 years old," the Emmy-winning actress says. "He wanted an agent for his birthday or Christmas. We finally had him go meet some."

In other daytime news, Sharon Moore returns to the role of Malcolm Winters in "The Young & the Restless," following a two-year hiatus. His first airdate is Nov. 1. Mary Beth Evans, who was supposed to move to "One Life to Live," rejoins "As the World Turns" on Nov. 15 as Sara Montgomery. Evans allegedly had wrapped up her story line on the CBS show when she agreed to star on the ABC daytime drama. Kimberlin Brown will join "OLTL" as Paige Miller. Alison Sweeney ("Days of Our Lives") and hubby Dave Sanov are expecting their first child in 2005.

Dear Paulette: Your recent column mentioned that several Aaron Spelling series would soon air on SOAPnet. Unfortunately, SOAPnet isn't available in this region. Lately, I've seen dozens of retired shows come back to life as DVDs. Are there any plans to make "90210" or "Melrose Place" collection sets? Stephanie C., Colorado Springs, Colo.

Dear Reader: According to a spokesperson for Spelling, there are no immediate plans. That doesn't mean that down the road a bit, it won't happen.

7 p.m. on 35-WB

7th Heaven

Appropriately timed, the new episode "Vote" focuses on political issues. Ruthie and Martin (Mackenzie Roemer, Tyler Hoechlin) engage in a spirited debate with other students about the current war in Iraq, prompting Ruthie to learn more about the world in which she lives. Eric and Annie (Stephen Collins, Catherine Hicks) each learn the other didn't register to vote in the last election. Carlos Ponce guest stars.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

Everybody Loves Raymond

Ray (Ray Romano) becomes the reluctant bearer of bad tidings in the new episode "P.T. & A." He has to inform Debra (Patricia Heaton) that other members of the parent-teacher association at their children's school disapprove of the way she dresses — and Ray fears what her reaction will be.

8 p.m. on 38-WB

Everwood

The drama series started its season with Scott Wolf as a major cast addition, and in the new episode "Sacrifice," it gets another: Anna Heche ("Six Days, Seven Nights"). She plays Amanda Hayes, a woman whose husband's (guest star Jason Beghe) illness has left him paralyzed and unable to speak. Dr. Brown (Treat Williams) grows close to her while teaching her spouse new methods of communication.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Las Vegas

Danny (Josh Duhamel) gets a crash course in baby-sitting in the new episode "Good Run of Bad Luck." He agrees to care for an infant so the mother can attend a job interview — but she doesn't come back. Sam (Vanessa Marcil) watches as a gambler (guest star Bernard Taylor) cheats his ex-wife out of a large divorce settlement by losing all his money. Clint Black (guest-starring as himself) rescues Mary, Nessa and Delinda (Nikki Cox, Marsha Thomason, Molly Sims).

9 p.m. on 4-CBS

CSI: Miami

A mob scene at a golf course temporarily cloaks the body of a slain high-school student in the new episode "Murder in a Flash." Horatio (David Caruso) and his team trace the messages that prompted the mass gathering back to a lawyer's offspring, but another student eventually falls under suspicion. Jack Coleman ("Dynasty"), Kate Mara ("Random Hearts") and Cristian de la Fuente ("Family Law") guest star.

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC Lost

A nighttime raid by the island's other inhabitants terrifies the plane-crash survivors in the new episode "Walkabout," written by "Buffy the Vampire Slayer" veteran David Fury. Locke (Terry O'Quinn) reveals more than intended while seeking food with Kate and Michael (Evangeline Lilly, Harold Perrineau). Jack (Matthew Fox) alarms others with his idea for what to do with the bodies of deceased fellow passengers.

7 p.m. on 38-WB Smallville

Clark (Tom Welling) lands a position on his school's football team in the new episode "Devoted." He gets to exercise his athletic side as starting quarterback after his predecessor feuds with team coach Jason (Jesse Ackles).

But something seems a little off, and after investigating, Clark and Lois (Erica Durance) discover the cheerleaders tainting the team's water with kryptonite.

7 p.m. on 6-NBC Law & Order

Found in several different piles of trash, parts of a murder victim's body initially lead Briscoe and Green (Jerry Orbach, Jesse L. Martin) to the victim's girlfriend in "Hands Free." The probe ultimately focuses on a man who assumed a different identity after being accused of homicide a decade earlier, but the police detectives have a hard time linking him directly to the more recent slaying.

7 p.m. on 19-PBS Capturing the Killer Croc

Although it might sound like something found on Sci-Fi Channel, this documentary takes a realistic approach to finding a predator that is almost 30 feet long — and approximately 100 years old. The creature has preyed upon people in and around Africa's Lake Tanganyika, prompting an environmentalist to lead a mission to capture the crocodile before it can add anyone else to its estimated roster of 300 victims.

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC on 4-CBS on 6-NBC on 19-PBS Presidential Debate

It's round three for President George W. Bush and Sen. John Kerry, as they literally face off in the third (and last scheduled) debate between them. Staged at Arizona State University in Tempe, Ariz., the session is sure to touch on issues that also informed the candidates' two previous show-downs — including the American economy, and domestic and international security. Other networks also will televise the event.

8 p.m. on 38-WB The Mountain

Max (Elizabeth Bogush) strikes up an alliance with Maria (Alana De La Garza), alarming David and Will (Oliver Hudson, Anson Mount), in the new episode "Water." David's other concerns include an employee who tries to blackmail him over his role in a friend's death. Barbara Hershey and Mitch Pileggi also star.

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

Joan of Arcadia

The reluctant Joan's (Amber Tamblyn) adoption of a feline coincides with the arrival of a relative (guest star Cloris Leachman) who's none too docile while recovering from a stroke in the new episode "The Cat." An Internal Affairs officer (Annie Potts, beginning a recurring role here) clashes with Will (Joe Mantegna) while probing a possible leak within his department.

7 p.m. on 38-WB

What I Like About You

As Val's (Jennie Garth) wedding gets closer, Holly (Amanda Bynes) starts thinking about a gift in the new episode "Split Ends." Needing money for the purchase, Holly goes in search of a job. When she can't find adequate employment, she enters a contest to be the new model for a shampoo manufacturer — and finds Tina (Allison Munn) is one of her rivals. Val mulls whether Rick (guest star Ed Kerr) is really ready for marriage.

7:30 p.m. on 38-WB

Grounded for Life

Claudia (Megyn Price) is absolutely furious that Sean (Donal Logue) gambled with the money set aside for the baby's crib in the new episode "You Better You Bet." Even worse, he won — and spent the cash on a new television. When Claudia accidentally breaks the set, she recruits Jimmy (Griffin Frazer) to keep Sean from finding out.

8 p.m. on 26-ABC

Hope & Faith

Hope (Faith Ford) worries about maintaining her image in the new episode "Queer as Hope." First, Justin and Hayley (Paulie Litt, Macey Cruthird) get into trouble at school, making Hope fear others will consider her a bad parent. Then Faith (Kelly Ripa) tries to secure a new apartment by claiming she and Hope are gay — which eventually gets Hope identified as such in a newspaper.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

JAG

Harm (David James Elliott) tries to help a seaman (guest star William Sadler, "Roswell") serving a life sentence for the murder of a transsexual prostitute in the new episode "Retrial." The new investigation focuses on possible negligence by authorities in the original trial, given someone else's confession to the killing then. Mac and Bud (Catherine Bell, Patrick Laborteaux) square off over the case of a bigamist.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Third Watch

Upon making detective, Yonas (Molly Price) deals with a caustic partner and a disturbing case in the new episode "Obsession." She fears a video left behind by a young suicide indicates a murder about to happen. Sully (Skip Sudduth) remains uncomfortable about new rookie Finney (Josh Stewart), whose father (guest star Charles Hall, "Hill Street Blues") is a police captain who has a past with Sully.

9 p.m. on 4-CBS

Dr. Vegas

A terminally ill gambler causes Billy (Rob Lowe) to look at Alice (Amy Adams) in a new light in the new episode "Dead Man, Live Bet." The dying man advises living for the moment, wisdom that Billy decides to apply to his own life — but whether Alice will concur is the big question. Fisher Stevens ("Short Circuit") guest stars.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Medical Investigation

As many college alumni prepare to attend a homecoming game, football players and sorority sisters are felled on campus by a nerve disease in the new episode "Team." Drs. Connor and Durant (Neal McDonough, Kelly Williams) find their efforts to identify the nature of the illness thwarted by students who won't provide essential information.

NASCAR Racing

If past success portends future checkered flags, then five drivers in the top 10 enter the UAW-GM Quality 500 — the only night race in the "Chase for the Nextel Cup" — as favorites: Tony Stewart, Matt Kenseth, Mark Martin, Jeff Gordon and Jimmie Johnson all have won at Lowe's Motor Speedway in Concord, N.C. Stewart is this race's defending champ, while fresh in Johnson's mind is his May victory at Lowe's in the Coca-Cola 600.

7 p.m. on AMC

Movie: A Civil Action

Inspired by a true story, this 1998 drama — co-produced by Robert Redford — features a fine performance by John Travolta as an attorney whose priorities change as a result of his latest case. He risks everything, including money and reputation, to defend Massachusetts families affected by water pollution. Robert Duvall co-stars as the lawyer for the firm being sued.

7 p.m. on HBO

Movie: Something's Gotta Give

In an Oscar-nominated performance, Diane Keaton had her best role in years — and her first nude scene — by reteaming with writer-director Nancy Meyers on this delightful 2003 romantic comedy. The playwright mother (Keaton) of a womanizer's (Jack Nicholson) latest conquest (Amanda Peet) becomes his new love target. When he has a medical crisis, the much younger doctor (Keanu Reeves) also falls for her.
